day there has been no renewal of rioting in this city. A dense fog prevails and favors the congregation of roughs. Small crowds of loafers are assembled on the street corners.

THE RIOTS.

The attorney-general held a consultation last night with his colleagues to determine whether to arrest Hyndman and other Socialists whose speeches, it is alleged, provoked Monday's riots. The police have been trying privately to secure evidence from people who heard the speeches and from reporters for the papers. I have just had a conversation with Hyndman, who knows nothing of the intention of the government. He says he does not see what the latter can possibly gain by the prosecution, nor on the other hand, how it can possibly avoid instituting it. He says he has already received offers of legal assistance, but will defend himself. The opportunity, he added, was not of their making, but they only took advantage of it, just as they will take similar advantage of a prosecution.

An UNEAST FEBLING.

AN UNEAST FEELING.
2 P. M.—Col Henderson, the head of the met ropolitan police force, has been in conference to-day with Mr. Childers, home secretary, in relation to the riots of Monday and Tuesday. An uneasy feeling prevails throughout the metropolis in consequence of the events the past few days. Hundreds of genuine workingmen, who are out of work, are wandering about Trafalgar square this afternoon. They have a very dejected appearance.

THE MOB AT WORK.

3:30 P. M.—The Deptford mob has reached the Hop exchange in Southwark, nearly five miles from the starting point of the march. The mob was enormously increased by constant accessions during its progress north. All the shops along the route were closed. The destination of the Deptford rioters seems to be Trafalgar square. The mob is resting in Southwark, between London bridge and Blackfrear's bridge. The police have been ordered to secure possession of all the bridges spanning the Thames and to resist all attempts on the part of mobs to cross. The police at this hour hold all the bridge approaches, and are PREPARING TO RESIST ATTACK.

The authorities have warned all tradesmen

Newington causeway. They sacked several small shops along the way. They stopped at the mammoth establishment of Stokes; Tomboy and Dan, owned by H. B. Richardson; E. T. Cushing's Daune-covers the ground from and including rall, H. O. Edye, Cowboy and Pony. The remainders 5 to 21 on the New Kent road, and 165 to 173 Newington car to trade in linen, silk, men's and women's clothes, boots and shoes, carpets, ironware, bedding, furniture, etc. The building was under police protection, but the mob over-ran the officers, sacked the store and when they retired left the building badly wrecked.

4:10 r. m.—News has just been received in the city that a mob of roughs which had as-sembled at Deptford are marching toward the city, and that they are smashing windows and wrecking the fronts of houses along the route. A panic prevails among the residents of that portion of the city which the mob is likely to traverse, and shop-keepers are closing their establishments. The police and troops are in readiness to prevent the mob from assuming the proportions of that of Monday, and from committing similar excesses.

4:30 r. m.—The estimate heretofore made of the losses inflicted by the mob on Monday the losses inflicted by the mob on Monday appears to have been greatly too small. The official estimate places the amount of the damage at £80,000. The various socialistic and labor reform societies threaten to have a monster demonstration at Hyde Park next Saturday, to be attended by contingents of laborers from the country. Shops are being closed and barricaded everywhere throughout the city.

5 P. M.—The police have been informed that the Deptford mob is composed of a large num-ber of roughs, who have organized to attack the city emporiums and banks. Such stores as remain open in the city, at this hour, have their windows closed and barred and are ready to close their doors at a moment's notice. Groups of anxious people stand about in the streets discussing the situation. The newspapers are printing extra editions and these are eagerly bought. At this hour and these are eagerly bought. 6 P. M.—The Deptford mob has dispersed. The streets are thronged. No conflict with the authorities has yet occurred. A Socialist meeting is to be held this evening at Cumberland market.

GATHERING FOR THE MEETING. At 5:30 o clock, two and a haif hours before the time announced for the assemblage, over 1,000 men were on the ground waiting to attend. The crowd was being constantly augmented by accessions from Trafalgar square. The cavairy from the albany barracks and large bodies of police have been ordered to remain in readiness to preserve order at the Cumberland meeting. A movement has been inaugurated become a meeting of all the London members of the bouse of commons, both Liberal and Donservative, to devise measures for the immediate relief of the distress in London. It is proposed to have the meeting depute a strong committee to urge the cabinet to soline in the

The Militia and Citizens Preserving Order at Seattle and Olympia.

SEATTLE, WY., February 9.—Another day of anxiety has ended without any serious trouble. The town is still under martial law and the streets are thronged with strangers. The militia have been on duty continuously since sunday morning and are worn out. Many senators and prominent men have telegraphed the president for aid. Citizens are generally responding to the call for volunteers. The cadet corps of the Territorial university were sworn into service this evening and are now quartered with the militia. The authorities have taken charge of all frearms and removed them to the court-house. Charles Stewart, injured in yesterday's conflict, died to-day. His death has increased the bitterness of the mob element.

The president has issued a proclamation warning all insurgents or persons assembled at any point to disperse before 6 o'clock or promptly there was an even dozen spectators, they have yet begun before. Among these twelve were:

This, the ninth game of the series and the fourth in St. Louis, was opened by Zukertort, who chose the white, and opened with queen's gambit, which Steinitz at once declined. This is the same opening Zukertor has chosen in all the games he has played in this series so far, and there was a little disappointment, as the local players had been expecting were this time all right, and the game proceeded quickly truns:

$500,000. The money was paid the Cherokees by the United States government in 1833, for land owned by them. It was distributed among Cherokees by blood only; colored men, Delaware and Shawnee Indians, all of whom are adopted citizens, being excluded. Since the distribution the latter had been fighting to secure a share of the money. Senator Dawes has interested himself in the colored citizens, cause, and it is intimated that the Cherokees will be forced to yield through congressional intervention. The question has been before the Cherokee legislature, that body passing a bill over the veto of the principal chief, "Bushyhead," providing for the distribution of the money among the Cherokees by blood only. The chief wanted it divided among citizens, irrespective of color or nativity, claiming that a failure to do so would annul all that had been done to carry out the treaty of 1866, and put the Cherokee nation in the attitude of being false to its obligations. The legislature refused to be guided by his advice. In April next $300,000 in money, arising from the lease of the Cherokee strip of the cattle syndicate, is to be divided in a similar manner, Bushyhead's veto having a second time been overruied. The adopted citizens want this money used in payment of their claims, and also demand a pro-rata division of such amonut as may remain after a per-capita division of the $300,000 obtained from the sale of the land.

university. Louis v. Beauvais comes in a cold French family, at one time very wealty. The young people were much attached to each other and the prospective union was considered a promisingly happy one. Following a rumor that the wedding had been postponed because of certain developments detrimental to the young man, a Post-Dispatch reporter called on Mr. Michael Bergin, the brother of the bride that was to be, at 811 Franklin avenue. That gentleman was very much depressed by the unhappy turn of affairs. He stated that the wedding was off, simply because it had been discovered that Beauvais was a scamp and a fraud. He had certainly covered his tracks successfully, as up to noon yesterday the family had no suspicion of the miserable details since disclosed. Beauvais had represented himself as a man of wealth, possessing several hundred thousand dollars. The Bergin family had received him kindly, believing him to be what he appeared, and for a long time his attentions to Miss Annie had been quite marked. He dressed well and often came to the house in a buggy. He had finally proposed for the lady's hand and been accepted. In speaking of his wealth, Beauvais had always referr ad to Mr. Henry Shaw, saying that gentleman had charge of his property. "Mr. Shaw," continued the brother, "declared that he had never had a dollar's worth of valuables belonging to Louis Beauvais. I learned this distressing truth from Mr. Shaw only yesterday, but in time to prevent the marriage into our family of a man whom, I am now cenvinced, meant to live on us. I could state the marter more strongly, but think that is sufficient."

The reporter called at the young man's home, 90 Tayon avenue, and was met at the door by a pleasant-faced lady whose face showed unmistakable ev. lences of weering. She held the door partly opened with an attitude intended to repel any attempt at entrance while behind her gathered the other members of the family with anxious faces. "Is Mr. Louis Beauvals in?" the reporter asked.

On the Fith and Olive corner the Bank of Commerce is to be located in a magnificent $x.$ story structure that will be at once beautiful and durable. This proposed building has already been fully described and a repetition is unnecessary.

The next building proposed to be put up is one to be erected on the southeast corner of Olive and Sixth streets on the Frice estate. For several years past it has been rumored that a building was to be put up on this corner, but, owing to the absence of Mr. Frank Lane. the representative of the estate, nothing definite has been done. Now, however, the lessees of the property have been notified to look for other localities, as the present buildings will be torn down in September. The building to be erected on this corner will no doubt be large, durable and handsome.

The tenants of property on the SOUTHEAST CORNER OF FOURTH AND CLIVE streets feel a little uncertain as to whether they will be able to renew their leases. It has been stated that these buildings were to be torn down shortly to make way for a great, massive office structure, to be erected by the Standard oil company.

CENES AT THE DEATH-BED OF GEN. WIN-FIELD S. HANCOCK.

The Hero Passes Away Quietly—Messages of Condolence to the Bereaved Widow from the President, Distinguished Soldiers and Veterans. The Arrangements for the Fu-

This brings to mind the oft-recurring talk of concentrating the leaders of retail trade in the vicinity of twelffth and olive.

There is no doubt that an effort in this direction has been making for several years past, with no apparent results as yet, but with the promise of big developments. Mr. Charles Turner is quietly waiting an opportunity to several years past, with no apparent results as yet, but with the promise of big developments. Mr. Charles Turner is quietly waiting an opportunity to several years of big developments. Mr. Charles Turner is quietly waiting an opportunity to several years and warned Mrs. Hancock that his DEATH MIGHT BE NEAR AT HAND.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a change was noticed in his condition and his doctor, who was immediately summoned, found the great retail street of the city. It morning that Scruggs, Vander was rumored on the street this morning that Scruggs, Vander wort & Barney had determined to remove their store from Fourth street to a new building to be put up on the corner of Twelith and Olive streets. This rumor was connected with the statement that the retail merchants of Fourth street some four or five years ago, entered into an agreement in order to retain the retail business on that street, to remain on Fourth street to remain on Fourth street to remain on Fourth street to remain on Fourth street, to remain on Fourth street to remain who entered into it find themselves facing the question of whether it is better to remain where they are or to move out towards Olive and Twelith streets.

It may be that the establishment of the Exposition building where it is has given an impulse to retail trade to move in the direction.

The General's Old Home.

PHIADELPHIA, PA., February 10.—A dispatch to the Times from Norristown, Pa., says: The news of the sudden death of Gen. Hancock at the county seat of his native county was received with profound sorrow and regret. Crowds of people surrounded the bulletin-boards yesterday afternoon, and it was only after corroborating reports had been received that the reported death of the distinguished general was believed. Scores of people reside here who were the general's schoolmates at the old academy under the patronage of Eliphalet Roberts, and at the school taught by the eloquent Samuel Aaron. Gen. Hancock was born near. Montgomeryville, about twelve miles from here, in February, 1824, and later his parents removed to a small stone house now says: The news of the sudden death of Gen.

Hancock at the county seat of his native county was received with profound sorrow and regret. Crowds of people surrounded the bulletin-boards yesterday afternoon, and it was only after corroborating reports had been received that the reported death of the distinguished general was believed. Scores of people reside here who were the general's schoolmates at the old academy under the patronage of Eliphalet Roberts, and at the school taught by the eloquent Samuel Aaron. Gen. Hancock was born near Montgomeryville, about twelve miles from here, in February, 1824, and later his parents removed to a small stone house now in ruins, only a stone's throw from the Montgomery cemetery, where lie buried the remains of the general's parents, of a brother and or his daughter. The general's father later removed to a humble two-story brick house on Swede street, below Dekalp, which is still used as a dwelling-house, and which we nightly illuminated during the Hancock campaign of 1880. The personal recollections which were recounted yesterday afternoon and evening by the older residents about the dead general and the Hancock family would fill a large volume. A public meeting will be held to-night to give expression to the sorrow of the community.

The Place of Burial. The Place of Burial.

NORRISTOWN, PA., February 10.—A dispatch from Lieut. Eugene Griffin of Gen. Hancock's staff to B. E. Chain, Esq., of this borough, states that the funeral will positively take place here. The date is not yet fixed, but will probably be on Friday. Arrangements for the interment are now in progress. A mass meeting of citizens will be held this afternoon in the court-house.

COLUMBUS, O., February 10.—The legislature adopted resolutions to-day respecting to death of General Hancock and ordering the obsequies.

Hancock's Classmates.

Washington,D,C., February 10.—Among the classmates of Gen. Hancock, Rufus Ingalis is now quartermaster-general, in this city, W. S.
Rosecrans is register of the treasury, John Newton is chief engineer, with headquarters in Washington, and Gen. Horatio G. Wright is also a resident of this city. Gen. Don Carlos Buell, recently appointed pension agent at Louisville, was also a classmate of Gen. Hancock.

Judge J. D. Foster, is in the field for a renomination.

It is reported in local political circles that Judge Elijah Norton of the supreme bench has positively declined to permit the use of his name in connection with the nomination for United States senator, to succeed Senator F. M. Cockrell. Major John Edwards of the St. Joseph Gazette, is said to have called on the judge at Jefferson City last week to obtain his views upon the matter, and to urge him to enter the list against Cockrell. Judge Norton, however, returned Major Edwards a decidedly negative answer and declared his intention of serving out his term as judge of the supreme court.

The Time Convention Committee.

The committee appointed by the general time convention to formulate rules for the government of the conventions of the whole, met at the Southern hotel this morning. K. H. Wade, superintendent of transportation of the Wabash, presided and W. F. Allen acted as secretary. There are present: William Rogers, general superintendent of the Contral of Georgia; H. Walters, general manager of the Atlantic Coast line; H. B. Stone, general manager of the Atlantic Coast line; H. B. Stone, general manager of the V. B. & G.; J. F. Harrahan, general superintendent of the Lonisville and Nashville; C. D. Gorham, general superintendent of the Nickel-Piate, and E. B. Thomas, general manager of the Virginia Midland. The committee will remain in session to-morrow and Friday.

state prisons. It is said that a general boyout will shortly be ordered against these manufacturing firms, and, if necessary, local knights of Labor will go into the interior of the state to perform missionary work against the sale of the goods.

The Coke Drawers' Strike. coke region strike, it is thought, will now settle down to a mere question of endurance on both sides. The action of the syndicate in on both sides. The action of the syndicate in closing down all works and ceasing to turn out coke is looked upon by the people here as a wise move, which should have been taken two weeks ago. The entire agitation among the strikers, with its story of arson, riot and bloodshed, has resulted from the excursions of strikers to compel those employed at the various works to quit. It is thought now that when the source of the ferment and confusion is removed there will not be such a rally at the meetings, and reflection among the strikers will supplant the tendency to fight and destroy. The strikers look upon the edict with indifference. They are still perfectly sure, in their own minds, that the operators must finally surrender. They say that the lack of coke will throw 100,000 men out of employment in other industries, and that pressure will be brought to bear upon the coke producers from that direction, even more embarrassing than their own demand. The only trouble now imminent is that which may result where attempts to arrest are made, and also where desperation will come from want of food. The people, who have contributed, have looked upon the efforts of the operators to keep the oven shot as an indication that they must have coke, and would likely soon advance the price. The shut down, however, gives the charity business the appearance of lasting a long time, and it is a question whether the communities can afford to keep it up long. It is thought now that no evictions will be made at this time.

The result of the conference is awaited with interest, as it may end the great nallers' strike, which was inangurated last June. BRILLIANT NUPTIALS.

The Fitzgibbons contested divorce case, the suit of many continuances, is still further delayed in course of trial. Judge Horner took the case to relieve Judge Dillon, and heard, last evening, the evidence of several witnesses, including the daughter against her mother. He then continued it until Friday, when the testimony of a boy attached to the Osage mission will be heard. The other witnesses will be neard on Friday, the pith inst.

Wm. Singlaub wants a decree of divorce from Elizabeth Singlaub. They were married October 17, 1876, and lived together until September 16, last year. Mr. Singlaub alleges that his wife refused to attend to her household duties, stayed away at night and after he had retired would filtr at the front door with young men in the neighborhood. He further charges his wife with persuading other women to share his couch. Judge Barclay to-day dismissed the case of Preston against Brandt involving the construction of the will of Joshua Brandt. The court construes the clause in controversy as a devise in equal parts per capita to the heirs of Elizabeth L. McDowell and Henry B. Brandt, who may be living at the time of the death of Sarah B. Brandt, or the legal representatives of said heirs.

Timothy Crowley brought a $5,000 damage suit to-day against the Iron Mountain railroad company on account of personal injuries sustained by an accident on the levee track at the foot of Spruce street. He was crossing the track in a wagon early in the morning, when a locomotive struck the wagon and hurled Crowley several feet. He complains that the other track was blockaded with cars, and there was no watchman at hand. Chas J. Zirnite entered a suit to-day for divorce from Fannie M. Zirnite. They were married in Pike county. June 14, 1876, and lived together until the 20th of January last year. Mr. Zirnite alleges that his wife has absented herself without cause and has announced her fixed purpose of remaining away.

Suits on special tax bills for the widening of Eligheenth street were filed to-day in the day to Lizzie Krumwedy on the estate of the late Officer Krumwedy. The estate is valued at $3,000.

Mary E. Dwyer asked for a decree of divorce from William Dwyer. They were married August 26, 1873. Mrs. Dwyer alleges that her husband deserted her without cause and falled to support her.

Judge Barclay took no action to-day in the Ewing-Francis quo warranto matter referred to in another column. The application was filed for the circuit attorney by Dyer Lee & Ellis, George D. Reynolds and A. R. Taylor. The court will examine the petition during the day, and will probably pass on it to-morrow. The original suit was dismissed.

Judge Treat is hearing to-day in chambers the patent infringement suit of Dedrich against the Whitman Agricultural Works.

In the dollar store assignment the court to-day approved the assignee's reports for October and December. The attorney is allowed $1,000 on account.

The following cases were dismissed in the circuit court to-day: Evans & Howard Firebrick Company vs. 'Frisco Raliroad Company; Barber Asphalt Paving Company vs. Bereman et al.; Union National Bank vs. Hunt; Lef-kowitz vs. Lewis et al.; Hill vs. Aden; Broderick & Bascom Rope Company vs. City et al.; Bambrick vs. Missouri Pacific Raliroad Company; Dwyer vs. Dwyer; Fassett vs. Beecher et al.

A boycott has been instituted by the Knights of Labor against Mr. Conrad Reinecke's mines, and all persons in sympathy with the workingmen are requested to abstain hereafter from handling coal mined from the Reinecke pits. The principal reason given for the boycott-is that Mr. Reinecke is one of the proprietors of the Western nail mill, which employs non-union hallers.

Bellefontaine.

It is thought that Gen. Hancock's body will find interment in Bellefontaine cemetery. Comptroller Campbell said this morning that when the coffin containing the remains of Russell Hancock was placed in the vault in the general's lot, Gen. Hancock remarked that the reserved space was too small for Mrs. Hancock and himself, and at once gave orders to have it enlarged. This Mr. Campbell construed as meaning that the general desired that he should be buried in St. Louis.

Mayor Francis this morning dispatched the following to New York city:

Sr. Louis, February 10.

Gen. W. D. Whipple, Governor Island, N. T.

Please tender to Mrs. Hancock the sincere condolence of the citizene of St. Louis in her sad bereavement. This city will feel honored if selected as the final resting-place of the distinguished dead. David R. Francis, Mayor.

STREET OBSTRUCTION.

One abuse to which St. Louis has patiently submitted, long after it has been abolished in all other cities of the same rank, is the monopoly of the sidewalks and the obstruction of the streets in our ousiest thoroughfares by builders. The Beck bill provides that coin certificates redeemable in either gold coin or silver dollars, at the option of the United States, shall take the place of the gold and sliver certificates now outstanding, which shall be retired as fast as received at the Treasury. These new coin certificates are to be issued on original certificates of deposit of gold coin or standard silver dollars in the sum of $10, or any multiple thereof, and in such deominations as the depositor may request in writing; provided, that no coin certificate shall exceed the denomination of $500, and that two-thirds of the certificates outstanding at any one time shall be of

THE melting weather should be a reminder to all property owners of the city that they are required by law to keep the sidewalks in front of their premises clean and in good order. During the long-continued cold weather this has been very difficult, and no attempt has been made to enforce the ordinances on this subject. But the citizens should not wait until they are compelled to comply with the law. It is to the interest of every one to comply without compulsion, and the general welfare as well as the individual convenience will be served by attention to this matter. The condition of the sidewalks speaks very unfavorably for the enterprise of the citizens, and injures the city in many

In a speech favoring the repeal of th Bland act, Representative FINDLEY of Maryland warned the laboring class of the day when gold should wave a parting dieu to silver. The dreaded parting ha occurred before. Congress brought gold back in 1834 by the simple process of reducing the gold dollar from 24.75 grains of pure gold to 23.2, which not only brought gold back, but drove silver out of the country. There is no such prece dent for changing the amount of pure silver in the silver dollar, and the friends of the latter seem to be much more numerous than the friends of its colored rival.

The Statesmen Adopting Creats
From a Washington Special.

It has become the fashion for public men, says the Sunday Capital, to adopt crests after the manner of the nobility of the effete mon archies, and that which Secretary Manning introduced at his recent dinner party has created quite a sensation because of its striking originality and the significance of the motto it bears: "An eagle does not catch files," Gen. Butler's crest is a goblet bearing the legend: "Comme je trouve," while that of Senator Ingalls is an open eye with the words in Latin, "He wins who is aware." Gen. Logan has recently adopted the style, and his note maner. "He wins who is aware." Gen. Logan has recently adopted the style, and his note paper now bears the very presty design of a calumet across an Indian war bonnet. This device will be apt to revive the old stories about the general's Indian ancestry, although he boasts of pure Irish blood. Senator Sawyer, who is the wag of the senate, is thinking of following the axample of other great men in this respect, and will adopt as the most appropriate creet for his profession of lumberman, an embattled sawlog on an emerald pine forest, with a pair of engralled bob sieds upon the dexter observor.

Childs paid the expenses of a decent burial for the unfortunate man. Patti has very skillfully counterfeited some worthy with grees pleasure in America. It is much talked of here that Miss Chamberlain has just declined the honor of an alliance with a young German prince, the only son of one of Germany's oldest, richest and most illustrious families. This refusal on the part of the young beauty of so brilliant a marrimonial offer is attributed to the Mariborongh house influence, as the Prince and Princess of Wales are very much averse to Miss Chamberlain's leaving England permanently for the court of Berlin. Some of the beautiful young American's more ambitious friends express surprise that she has elected not to become a German princess, but there is little doubt that, owing to the great regard the English royalty have for her, she will eventually decide in favor of one of her English admirers. At the Opening of parliament by the queen, Miss Chamberlain's remarkable beauty was the theme of universal admiration, and she is more fetted and worshiped since her severe illness than ever before. The Chamberlains have been staying with the Duke and Duchess of Westminster at Eaton, to meet the Prince and Princess of Welss. Another American who reflects credit upon her country is Lady Randolph Churchill, nee Jerome. The prominent part she has recently taken in politica shows that she is as clever as she is attractive. She will probably soon visit America. His First Question in Baltim From the Boston Evening Record.

her mother is now living. She can afford it. She has collected a snug fortune of half a million or so.

Few of the pe ple who see Lotta kicking her heels and playing all the tricks of a little girl on the stage would place her age at the correct figure. The little mite of a body doesn't look it, hut she was born in Nassau street, New York, November 27, 1847. Her father John Ashworth Crabtree was an Englishman, and kept a book store which he abandoned to go to California during the gold oraze of '49. Lotta has been on the stage since 1858, and she is credited with the largest pile of dollars of any woman in the profession, the greater part of which she owes to her mother's business shrewdness. There is said to be a romance ripening between herself and her good-looking leading man, Mr. Frank Carlyle, although she has hitherto kept her hand, it not her fancy, free.

One of the hardest and most enthusiastic workers of the dramatic writers is Charles Hoyt whose almost boylah face can be seen any night watching the performance of his company. side, are taken from the Australian Sportsman:

"Matterson was the first to put in an appearance on the water. He looked blooming and in good condition, scaled 145 pounds, and by good judges was thought to be too light. Beach looked trained to the hour and in his best form; he scaled 176 pounds. Some little delay took place from a false start. At last consent was given, the "boy" showing slightly in front, and great was the excitement, both men puling about thirty-eight to the minute, and no one could say which boat was in front for the first 200 yards. On nearing Uhr's point Beach, with his grand and steady stroke, began to show his superiority and in a few words the race may be fully told, as he quickly and steadily went on, never at any point of the race being extended, and won as he liked. Uhr's point was reached in 2:61. Matterson being twelve seconds after him. Putney was five lengths in front, in 6:37, Matterson being twelve seconds after him. Putney was passed in 10:20, and Tennyson in 18:25. Here Matterson was hopelessly in the rear, and by rowing a bad course the wind and tide had its prejudicial effect. Beach reached Charita upwards of 180 yards in front of his opponent in 18:35. Matterson, pulling gamely and very steadily, made an effort and increased his strokes to thirty two on reaching Gladesville, but the Dapto hero, taking matters very easy, passed this point in 18:27. One Man's wharf was reached in 20:21, and the champion, pulling leisurely, passed the winning post fifteen lengths in front of Matterson in 21:12½."

CHICAGO, February 10 .- The costly co ouildings still continue to crumble and still remain a source of danger to pedestrians. For the seventh time within the past eighteen months, portions of its carved ornamenta stones have fallen crashing to the sidewalk. At 8:30 o'clock last night a block of limestone, known as a cornice pendant, fell from the top of the Clark street front, just over the main entrance, and created consternation in the neighborhood for a few minutes. It dropped through the south opening in the portice and striking the broad steps that lead to the first story smashed portions of two of the steps and displaced portions of three others. The stone weighed about 150 pounds and rolled across the sidewalk onto the plied-up snow near the street. In its passage across the sidewalk, it is said, it struck the dress of one of three ladies who was passing at the time, tearing a portion away. The isdies, of course, were terrified, as was several other pedestrians who were also close to the scene of danger. It was soon after reported that another stone was about to fall from the same height. It is claimed that either that side of the street ought to be feuced in or prompt measures taken to render the building secure. The construction of the building has always been a matter of controversy; allegations of fraud against the contractors in the courts and newspapers having been made from time to time.

amounting altogether to several thousand dollars. Phillips heard that she had left the city in company with Her Former Husband, Geo. H. RICE, and soon after learned that they had gone to Toledo and were stopping at the Merchants' hotel. He went at once to Toledo with a detective, but failed to locate the pair at the Merchants', but a diligent search in the hotels discovered on the register of the St. James the entry, "George H. Rice and wife." The two had suddenly left the hotel, however. Mrs. Rice was still in Toledo, and was found and placed under arrest, but Rice had disappeared.

The woman had the greater part of the goods she had purchased with her, and they were recovered. Phillips took most of the property and returned it to the stores from which it had been purchased. Mrs. Rice retained a new sealskin sacque which she wore into court and which she is said to have sold for money with which to obtain ball.

Phillips, in conversations about his wife, said that he had simply hear deceived.

living and her clothing. Mr. Phillips has received anonymous messages telims him to fight the taing out and he is of the opinion from all he could learn that there was a conspiracy to fleece him and to divide the spoils. He believes that during the entire time in which he and the Rice woman were living together as man and wife she was maintaining her former relations with Rice and was furnishing him with funds from her allowance. He said that he gave her plenty to keep Rice in comfort. There are even hints of a conspiracy in which several persons were interested and were profiting by Phillips' liberality. There is very little doubt but that at least Rice and the woman were in collusion. One singular phase of the case is that it is asserted Rice and the woman are not married at all, but that Rice has a wife and three children living.

herself, while at Keokuk, asserted that Rice had a family living at Princeton, Ill., and it is asserted by parties who claim to know Rice that he has a family living at Armada, Mich. When the case was brought up at Toledo, a woman who was known as Mary Weller claimed to be married to Rice, and she is said to have been introduced to several persons as Mrs. Rice by Nice himself, who occupied apartments at the hotel with her.

On the other hand Mrs. Rice asserts that she

Kitty in St. Louis.

"If that woman had never been deceived she would never have deceived," said a former fellow-employe of Mrs. Kate Dexter-Spooner - Rice - Phillips, the gay adventuress who languished in a Toledo jall. "I knew her well. We worked together in the Times office, and I confess to having been greatly taken up with her, although I knew she was wild and reckless. She was a good girl until Dexter deceived her. I believe she meant well. She loved Dexter and would have made a good and faithril wife if he had acted fairly by her. But he deceived her and then threw her off, and she just came to think that there was no truth in men. She soured on the whole world and grew hard and desperate. She went to work to make a living for herself, and I've always, thought that it was the early disappointment that finally overcame her and started her out on a career of vice and deception. She never loved any 'man afterward, but she made every one who crossed her pathsuffer. I think she must have made a stern resolution to be-tray every confidence reposed in her and wreck every man he met with. Her history since then justines me in thinking this and I now feel certain of it."

"Was she so very handsome?"
I didn't think so. She had good features I a fine figure, but she was not the heautiful ture that they make her out to be. She have grown beautiful since, but have grown beautiful since, but have grown beautiful since, but

It seems that we have stirred up the Clothing Trade of this City by clearing our entire stock of Fall and Winter Clothing at prices 25 per cent less than our would-be competitors get for the same goods. Our competitors have resorted to all sorts of devices to bring trade their way. They are offering gold, silver, diamonds, discounts, etc., but none of these appear to work any more. It would be an easy matter to give even a house and lot with each Suit or Overcoat, provided the purchaser would pay enough for the Suit and Overcoat. But we do not do business that way. We have in our Great Clearing Sale marked down all our Clothing to prices that we guarantee to be from 25 to 50 per cent less than the same goods can be bought elsewhere. To every one who may buy from us we give the privilege of returning their purchases within thirty days, and we will cheerfully refund their money if they think they can do better, or if they are not perfectly satisfied. Remember, we have as FINE Clothing as there is manufactured. We have STRICTLY ONE PRICE, and all our goods are marked in plain figures.

There were read a number of street reconstruction ordinances. One ordinance, providing for the reconstruction of Market street from Eighteenth to Twenty-first, was accompanied by a communication from the president of the board of public improvements, stating that more than a majority of the owners of property had objected to the adoption of the ordinance, but that it was deemed imperative to have the street reconstructed, nevertheless. A bill authorizing N. K. Fairbanks & Co. to a branch track was read first time. Mr. Stone introduced a bill to open Cabanne street from Bell to Finney avenues, and a bill authorizing certain parties to construct an elevated railroad. The temporary appropriation bill was passed. Mr. Brueggemann introduced a resolution requesting an opinion from the city counselor as to whether the city had the power to compel the Missouri Pacific railway company to maintain gates at street crossings on the Poplar street track. The resolution, after a hot discussion, was adopted. Speaker Alt tendered his resignation as member of the committees on railroads and fire department, and it was accepted. Mr. Pishon was appointed to the vacancy in the railroad committee, and Mr. Brueggemann to the fire department committee.

she began to weep piteously and informed the sergeant that her son Paul, 16 years old, was very wicked. She said that he did not work, but associated with corner ruffians and went home drunk every night.

"I would rather be dead," said she, "than endure again what I have passed through these last six months. My heart is nearly broken. I have done everything for that boy. I've been a good mother and this is my pay." "You spared the rod and spoiled the child," said Detective Bissert.

"That's my case, exactly," replied the woman, wringing her hands. "I never lifted a finger to him. I always allowed him to have his way. Now he doesn'z mind me and when I tell him not to associate with evil companions he turns on me like a savage. He thinks I am his enemy and his evil associates he believes are his irm friends. I'm afraid to sleep with him in the house. Please let a policeman come with me to arrest him," she concluded.

The feelings of Detective Bissert, who has a family of boys, were touched and he volunteered to accompany her home. The broken-hearted mother thanked him and followed Bissert out of the station-house. She couldn't walk very fast, as she had worked all day. When she was about to go to sleep, sne said, her drunken son entered the house and disturbed her. She told the detective as they walked along, that with a view to his reformation, she had sent him west and made an effort to get him good positions, but he returned to the city and led a dissipated life. When the woman and the detective had reached Seventh street, two blocks from the station-house, Mrs. Parker stopped, placed her hand on her heart, and crying "My God, my heart is broken," fell, and when Detective Bissert stopped to raise her he found

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Prof. Morgan Resigns as High School Prin-

The school board met last night. Mr. our, of the teachers' committee, reported that the resignation of Prof. Morgan as principal of the high school had been re-ceived and accepted. It was decided to refer all further action in the matter to the president of the board, with full power to act. Mr. Blaisdell introduced a resolution that a new grade for second assistant at the High and Normal schools be established, with the following salaries: First year, $1,300; second year, $1,350; third year, $1,400; fourth year, $1,400; fifth year, $1,500. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. O'Connell submitted the report of the course of study committee, which favored the introduction into the schools of the studies of physiology and hysiene. A long discussion followed a number of speeches in favor, and against the adoption of the report being made.

A vote was finally taken and the report was adopted, the only members voting against it being Messrs. Bodeman, Blaisdell, Goerilch and Schubert. An appropriation of $500 was then made to buy new book cases for the library. Mr. Stariofi, chairman of the Bornmueller investigating committee then reported that the committee had finished their investigation, and had found that Mr. Bornmueller had acted in a fair and honest manner in making awards. A long wrangle over the committee's report ensued, but it was finally adopted. dent of the board, with full power to act. Mr.

DEER HOUNDING.

THE DISASTROUS RESULTS OF HUNTING THE DEER WITH DOGS.

Valley Hauter.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

Shohola, Pa., February 10.—"I am giad the question of deer hounding can be brought up for discussion in the shape it has come up in the New York state legislature this winter," said an observant old hunter of the Delaware valley, "for the matter of prohibiting the use of dogs in hunting deer has had a year's trial in the state in regions where deer are still plenty enough to note its workings to advantage, and the resuit is known. Such a result was inevitable. No better proof is wanted of the fallsev of the belief that more deer can be be killed with dogs than withous them, than the be killed with dogs than without them, than the well known fact that the Indians who one dwelt in these regions never permitted a dog to be loose in the woods when they were deer hunting. They did not hunt for pleasure but followed the chase to provide for their neces-sities. They know that a dog following the trail of a deer greatly decreased the chances of their getting the game and they could not af-ford to take such chances. So they adopted the still-hunting method—in fact, the Indians were the first still hunters and in the stealthy, were the first still hunters and in the stealthy, creeping, sneaking tactics of the still hunter of to-day, are seen the exact style of the savage hunter of a century and more ago. If I wanted to hunt deer for market I would never take a dog with me to camp. Where deer are as abundant as they are in the Adirondacks it is no common thing for hunters a steal within gunshet of three or hunters to steal within gun-shot of three or four deer that may be feeding or standing in a group. As still hunting is always practiced by those who are killing venison for market, they generally hunt in parties of two or three and even more. They know the habit of the deer perfectly and are aware of the possible chances of trailing a group to within shooting distance. "I have known four deer to be

An Important Test Case Decided by a Court at Hartford, Conn. An Important Test Case Decided by a Court in the Hartford, Conn.

New York, February 10.—A special from Hartford, Conn., says: Judge Shipman, in the United States court, made an important decision yesterday in a case involving the use of so-called thousand-mile ticket books of railroads. The decision applies not only to this case, where Frank H. Whittelsey sued the New York & New England railroad, but to other railroads where a full mile rate is charged for fractions of a mile. Whittelsey started from Providence to Hartford and because of a change of conductors at Williamantic, Conn., was not permitted to make a through payment. The result was that the second conductor, acting under the rules of the road, demanded one coupon more than the number which, added to those Whittelsey had already surrendered, would have paid the through rate from Providence to Hartford. Whittlesey, refusing payment of this extra coupon, was arrested on reaching Hartford, and charged with evading fare. The case was not pressed by the company, and he then brought suit for 16,000 damages. Judge Shipman yesterday swarded him $25 damages and an equal amount for cost, and says that Whittlesey had a fair claim of right to the legal position which he maintained in refusing to surrender the extra coupon.

The Police Board.

The police board met yesterday afternoon. Officer Fluvius J. Fight of the Fourth district had a hearing on a charge of making an indecent proposal to a might, who demanded of him that he deliver done up in packages, and in the same pocket in which he had the packages of money he had also a round package of tobacco. Insearching him one of the thieves took out the package of tobacco, and thinking it was a package of concept, they hurried away.
